

Descendants Of Late J. H. And Rachel Tarvin Meet Sunday At Finch Park For Annual Reunion; Large Number Present

Nearly 100 Members Of The Family Present; Homer Tarvin Is Elected President And Mrs. Grace Wilson, Secretary-Treasurer; Several Members Of Pioneer Family Are In The Service Of Their Country.

With nearly 100 members of the family present, the children, grandchildren, great-grandchildren and the great-great-grandchildren of the late J. H. and Rachel Tarvin met at Finch Park Sunday, August 9, for their annual family reunion.

The big shade trees made the occasion ideal, providing plenty of shade for members of the family, who enjoyed a sumptuous dinner at noon, each family having brought an abundance of good things to eat for the occasion.

Officers Elected. This was the second annual reunion of this well-known and honored family, and decision was reached to hold the reunion the second Sunday in August each year. Officers were elected including Homer Tarvin, President, and Mrs. Grace Wilson, Secretary-Treasurer.

Had all members of the family been able to attend, the attendance would have been nearly 300. However, in view of the tire rationing and the fact that many members of the family are in the service of their country, the attendance was considered satisfactory to everyone.

J. H. and Rachel Tarvin were early pioneers, coming to Collin County from Campbell County, Kentucky, early in 1880, settling three miles east of McKinney at the old Tarvin homestead, which is now owned and occupied by C. T. Tarvin.

Interesting Family History. In this family were four sons and seven daughters, nine of

Milk Situation

Elimination of some milk routes and delivery of larger quantities of milk at stations offer about the only possibilities for decreasing the cost of milk to consumers.

E. R. Eudaley, Dairyman for the A. and M. College Extension service, points out that the cost of feed, and transportation difficulties mean the dairy farmer must get relatively high prices for milk if he is to stay in business. Much the same problem confronts distributors. Some plants are having difficulty in obtaining parts for keeping machinery in repair.

One contribution the dairy industry might make to better diets of the nation is selling bottled milk. It is a valuable food and in some seasons goes to waste in Texas plants, Mr. Eudaley says. The difficulty is that it costs the distributor as much to bottle and deliver skimmed milk as whole milk, for which he can get a much higher price.

Milk consumption per capita could be increased considerably, Mr. Eudaley believes, by the introduction of vending machines or nickel-in-the-slot milk. Some dairy industries report favorably in the use of these machines, but priorities on materials have curtailed their production. After the war, the dairy industries expect a boom in this type of milk distribution. The Texas State Nutrition Committee recently expressed interest in promoting nickel-in-the-slot milk.

New Angle to Airplane Motor Construction

An innovation in airplane construction is shown above in the mounting of a plane motor on a movable front piece which is synchronized with the tail assembly. When the pilot wants to go up, according to the plane's inventor, Andrew Sedlmeier of Oakland, Cal., all he has to do is move the motor until it points upward, as shown. This gives the propeller more pull, the inventor claims, and speeds the rise of the plane. The tail flaps go up at the same time, helping immediate rise. Sedlmeier has worked 12 years on his plane. Thus far it has stayed in his back yard and never been in the air.

U. S. MARINES ADVANCE IN THE SOLOMON IS.; REINFORCED BY MEN, TANKS AND BIG GUNS

AMERICANS ARE SAID TO BE FIRMLY ESTABLISHED IN SEVERAL ISLANDS NORTH OF AUSTRALIA IN WHAT IS BELIEVED TO BE THE FIRST STEP IN PACIFIC OFFENSIVE.

BULLETINS.
United States Marines are said to be holding the bridgeheads established in the Solomon Islands, strengthened by reinforcements of men, tanks and guns, in the face of stout Japanese defense of the islands. Indications point to an Allied victory, said reports from the Pacific. General MacArthur's planes continued their raids on islands North of Australia in an attempt to keep the Japanese from sending supplies to their beleaguered companions stationed on the islands besieged by Americans.

Russian armies continued to fall back slowly, in the face of overwhelming odds of German men, tanks and guns. The Russians, reports said, are applying the scorched earth policy in retreat, destroying crops and oil fields in their retreat to prevent their falling into the hands of the Germans.

Continuing their relentless attacks, a naval task force battered land installations of the Japanese in the Aleutian Islands, sinking one enemy cargo ship, and damaging two others. The Navy said Cruisers and destroyers took part in the bombardment, first of its kind in the North Pacific, surprising the Japanese. The action was carried out Saturday.

Detailing information of action in the Aleutians, the Navy said little of the violent fighting on the Solomon Islands, 4,000 miles to the Southwest. The Aleutian attacks, which began July 22, have continued, with twenty-one Japanese ships sunk or damaged.

Russia continued to fight ever-increasing German hordes with their back to the wall, retreating slowly and inflicting as much damage as possible on the enemy. Armored forces of the Germans have thrust fifty miles down the Rostov-Baku Railway from Armenia to the Caucasus area in the Caucasian foothills, breaking through Soviet defenses near Krasnodar, sixty miles from the naval base at Novorossiisk.

Total Of Nine Absentee Votes Cast In County, Says County Clerk Hagy

FIFTY-TWO APPLICATIONS HAVE BEEN DISTRIBUTED FOR RUNOFF PRIMARY CAMPAIGN; INTEREST INCREASING IN VARIOUS RACES; ONE OF SHORTEST BALLOTS IN TEXAS RUNOFF CAMPAIGN HISTORY.

Absentee voting, which began Tuesday in the Democratic runoff primary campaign, to be held in Texas Saturday, August 22, is starting at a lively pace, said County Clerk W. C. Hagy. Mr. Hagy says that fifty-two ballots have been mailed out and that nine persons have visited his office to vote Tuesday, August 13, will be the last day to vote an absentee ballot, he says.

The ballot will be one of the shortest in runoff history, with only four State races, no county and one precinct race to be decided.

The order in which the names will appear on the ballot in this county follows:

For United States Senator. James V. Allred. W. Lee O'Daniel.

For Lieutenant Governor. John L. Smith. Harold Beck.

For State Treasurer. W. Gregory Hatcher. Jesse James.

For Railroad Commissioner. (Unexpired Term.) Beauford H. Jester. Pierce P. Brooks.

For Commissioner Precinct 3. J. G. St. Clair. Jess Williams.

Election Workers Reduced. There will be a reduction of election judges and workers for the runoff election, Saturday, August 22, reducing the number of workers in boxes employing eight officials in the first election to five in the runoff, while all other boxes, whether they used four or six officials and workers, would automatically be reduced to four.

Hon. W. C. Dowdy, Collin County Democratic Chairman, calls attention to the fact that persons who are ill or otherwise confined to their homes, and who wish to vote may vote in the runoff election by securing an absentee ballot. Securing an absentee ballot for these persons is the proper procedure for them to vote. Mr. Dowdy says, who points out that it is illegal for election judges to go farther than the entrance to the polls to carry a ballot.

A baby son was born in the McKinney City Hospital today to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Ray Thompson, residing on Route 4, McKinney.

MCKINNEY, TEXAS, THURSDAY, AUGUST 13, 1942.

With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right.—Abraham Lincoln.

Quietly, Admiral William D. Leahy is assuming his duties as chief of staff to President Roosevelt, commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the United States. The grizzled sea dog, who also has had wide experience in the field of diplomacy, some day may become the high command of the armed forces of the United Nations. For the time being, however, the scope of his duties remain shrouded in official Washington secrecy.

While the territory of Hawaii, where war in the Pacific began last Dec. 7, has been under military rule ever since, the processes of civil administration have not been entirely eliminated. President Roosevelt has just nominated Ingram M. Stainback to be governor of the territory, to succeed Governor Joseph B. Poindeux, whose term expired last March 16. Mr. Stainback at present is United States attorney for the territory.

Morey Neely, who, for the past nine years a member of the McKinney Volunteer Fire Department, will leave McKinney soon to become member of the Fire Department at the North American Aviation, Dallas. This Editor has personally known Mr. Neely for a number of years and it is with deep regret that he leaves. We know that North American will be benefited by his presence and McKinney will not only lose a valuable citizen, but a fine, dependable fireman. Such men as Morey Neely are hard to find and we sincerely hope that when this war is finished that Mr. Neely will again be back in the town that he loves and that loves him.

WORK OF HEALTH DEPARTMENTS.

The importance of manpower as compared to his products, in winning the war is stressed by Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, in a public statement issued this week, says the Gainesville Daily Register. He says: "Not steel, money, rubber, sugar, gasoline, nor any other material equipment can win this war without manpower."

The backbone of the entire civilian war program is the health and physical stamina of the men and women who stand behind the machines, who mold the steel, who conserve the rationed articles, who volunteer for defense activities, who earn the money that buys the war bonds, who work the farms and ranches that feed the fighters and who look after the homes and families that the military men are fighting for.

There can be no doubt that the protection and promotion of the health of these people, then, is as important to the outcome of the war as it is to the lives and peacetime welfare of the people themselves.

It is the state and local health department's duty to help them choose foods necessary for building strong bones and sturdy resistance to disease, to tell them about immunization against certain diseases, to urge periodic health check-ups, protect water and milk supplies, and tell them how to prevent illness and accidents.

"There are many other services that health departments can and are doing in their everyday work," said Dr. Cox, and he urges that the public make more use of the advice given to them by the health authorities.

BRITISH AGENTS HARASSING ENEMY.

Lonely men fighting single-handed against enormous odds, ever in the shadow of the firing squad, a step from the assassin's bullet, unknown, unhonored, Britain's secret service agents have been working furiously to help win the war.

Although they have had small credit for it, these men have won some great silent victories for Britain since September, 1939. Yet, virtually a state within a state, the intelligence service of the foreign office has in its century-long history remained invisible to the man in the street.

Sometimes its very existence has been denied by those who would normally be its head. They have never admitted that they know the secrets of the slim red book containing the roll of members of Britain's fourth arm or of the account books now in the hands of Sir Horace Wilson, chief of the civil service and therefore accountant for the secret service.

Many knights are working for the secret service, men who will never disclose for just what they received their honors. Famous names in banking, art, journalism, explorers, soldiers, scientists are to be found working under a mysterious man whose name only the top civil servants know.

From the four corners of the world, in code, in cipher, by mail, and wireless, reports flow to London from the seven secret services now maintained by the state—the foreign office, war office, admiralty, air ministry, board of trade, colonial office, and home office all have their special intelligence sections.

Most of the foreign office agents are chosen from the foreign service itself, but the list also includes wealthy men in important positions. Agents in the other services include ordnance, supply, and operations officers of the navy, statisticians, and experienced traders in the board of trade—the men who wove the blockade net around Germany by two years of heart-breaking work to discover all the numerous neutral channels of Nazi trade and finance.

13,085,000 Bale Cotton Crop In U. S. Forecast

The largest cotton crop since 1937 appeared in prospect Saturday with a preliminary estimate by the Agriculture Department that production would total 13,085,000 bales.

Immediate effect of the forecast, nearly three quarters of a million bales above expectations in New York trade quarters, was to send future prices at New York and New Orleans down nearly $2 a bale.

Shortly after announcement of the estimate, 2,341,000 bales, or 22 per cent more than 1941 production and a fraction less than the 1931-40 average of 13,108,000 bales, the Commodity Credit Corporation announced its 1942 cotton loan program.

The new loan rate was based at 16.02c a pound on seven-eighths-inch middling. A 2c a pound increase over the 1941 rate, the figure was based on 85 per cent of the parity price of 18.85c on Aug. 1, 1942.

Premiums and discounts for grade and staple will be calculated in relation to the loan rate on 15-16 inch middling, which will be 0.2c a pound above the basic rate for seven-eighths inch. The CCC explained that in previous loan programs, the rate would be based on the net weight of cotton and the net weight rate would be 70 points above that for gross weight to compensate for the lesser number of pounds.

The OWI went on to describe the seriousness of the situation by declaring "we are only ankle-deep in this war now; the Allies have done all of the fighting so far, and we could lose this war, unless production is speeded up immediately and we prepare ourselves to really get into the fight."

Referring to the demand for a second front the OWI pointed out that America is not ready and that it "serves no good purpose" to keep talking about a second front. He said our military leaders must be left to decide where our men and supplies are sent where they can do the most good. The year 1942, OWI said, is a year of preparation for the United States.

Private Jay D. Gauden Trains For Glider Pilot

The Air Force Training Detachment at Twentynine Palms, California, has among its students for glider pilot training a young McKinney man, Pvt. Jay D. Gauden.

At Center Field, for the first time in the history of the country, enlisted men of the Army of the United States are being offered glider pilot training. Students at this station are using the most modern gliders available. Among the instructors are: John Robinson, William Putnam and Dick Johnson, outstanding glider pilots in the nation.

On the edge of the great Mojave Desert after a day's flight and ground school instruction, students enjoy the use of a large open-air swimming pool and the modern recreation hall equipped with billiard and snooker tables, ping pong tables and a bowling alley.

Upon completion of the glider pilot training course, the student will be made a staff sergeant and awarded a glider pilot rating.

The members of the "Fraternal Order of Condors" (glider pilots) are planning their first reunion to be held in Tokyo, Japan.

Herewith is given a copy of a letter being sent to all applicants for glider pilot training by Commanding Officer, stating the entrance qualifications necessary for the training.

It is a necessary qualification to have 35 hours and private license or better before one may make application for glider pilot training. Anyone who has the prescribed number of flying hours and passes the physical and mental requirements is eligible to take the course. Cadets must have 50 hours time in power planes.

Candidates will receive five weeks' instruction at preliminary glider schools in light, power-driven airplanes under a course somewhat similar to that offered primary students in the Civilian Pilot Training program of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. They then will be instructed for two additional weeks in making "dead stick" landings as an intermediate step to aid in familiarizing them with operations of gliders.

Actual glider training will consist of a two-week course in two-place and large cargo gliders at elementary and advanced glider schools after completion of their preliminary training in light power planes.

Glider training has been made available to qualified officers and enlisted men as well as civilians. The latter will be accepted for enlistment at any Army Recruiting Station.

Applicant must be able, upon examination, to pass a physical examination for flying duty (WD, AGO Form 64), as Class II or better.

Enlisted applicants must have passed the Army General Classification Test with a score of 110 or more; Aviation Cadet qualifying examination (AC-10A) with a minimum score of 75; or the Aviation Cadet qualifying examination (AC 10-B) with a minimum score of 65.

All enlisted men who volunteer for such training, and who meet the general requirements and who have attained the necessary CCT rating or aviation cadet score, will be given a physical examination for flying duty on WD, AGO Form 64. Enlisted applicants who do not have a rating or score will be given the Army general classification test. Those who are found qualified in all respects will be designated glider pilot students, which designation, in the case of enlisted applicants, must appear on their respective service records.

Officers and enlisted men will train in grade. Upon a successful completion of the prescribed course, selected enlisted men of the schools will be appointed second lieutenants in the Army of the United States. Others will be given staff sergeant ratings with flight pay. All graduates will be authorized to wear the glider pilot wings insignia.

It is suggested that you contact the nearest Army Air Forces Aviation Cadet examining board promptly.

Interest Grows In Democratic Runoff Election

With only a little more than a week until the Saturday, August 22, Democratic runoff primary election, voters of Collin County, as well as those in the State, are increasing their interest in the election, despite the fact it will be one of the shortest ballots in runoff election history.

Hon. W. C. Dowdy, Collin County Democratic Chairman, calls attention to the fact that persons who are ill or otherwise confined to their homes, and who wish to vote, may vote in the runoff election by securing an absentee ballot. Securing an absentee ballot for these persons is the proper procedure for them to vote, Mr. Dowdy says, who points out that it is illegal for election judges to go farther than the entrance to the polls to carry a ballot.

While the law states that absentee ballots may be secured not more than twenty nor less than three days preceding the election, Mr. Dowdy points to a peculiar situation as the reason why absentee ballots are not yet obtainable. This is results from the fact that the certification of the ballots will not be made known. Tabulation Committee known until Saturday, certifying the ballot to the county officials. Mr. Dowdy expects the ballots to be available Tuesday morning.

The ballot in the State will include only four races, that of United States Senator, Lieutenant-Governor, State Treasurer, and Railroad Commissioner. There will be the ticket in this county except in Commissioners' Precinct 3 where there is a runoff for Commissioner between J. G. St. Clair, incumbent, and Jess Williams.

Naval architects and naval engineers with experience in preparing and supervising the preparation of naval designs and naval construction work are needed by the Navy department Maritime Commission.

Salaries ranging from $2600 to $5600 per year are offered to qualified persons in these positions, with appointments to be made for civilian war service work.

Experience as a licensed engineer officer of vessel is not qualifying for the naval engineer position, but persons with such experience may qualify for assistant inspector of boilers.

Applicants interested in these positions should call in person at the local Civil Service secretary's office at any first or second-class post office or write the Managing Director, U. S. Civil Service District, Customhouse, New Orleans, La.

Information Is Given On Brining Of Vegetables

Bringing vegetables is preferable to allowing them to spoil when no other means for preservation is available, Miss Charlotte Boyce, County Home Demonstration Agent said.

If necessary, strong beans, cauliflower, corn, green peppers, green tomatoes, cabbage, cucumbers and turnips may be preserved by brining. Beans, corn and cauliflower may be cooked after soaking out the salt and prepared for serving as fresh vegetables, Miss Boyce says. Green peppers may be used for stuffing and green tomatoes in pies.

Brining vegetables is preserved in a 10 per cent brine are string bean, cucumbers, green tomatoes, beets, turnips and corn on the cob. The amount of brine necessary to cover the vegetables is equal to about one half the volume of the material to be fermented. To make the 10 per cent brine use 3 1-4 cups of dairy salt to 1 1-2 gallons of soft water. Pour over the vegetables and the next day add one pound of salt (2 3-8 cups) for every 10 pounds of vegetables used.

At the end of the first week and the end of each succeeding five weeks, add one quarter pound of salt (approximately 5-8 cup) to reach 10 pounds of vegetables. Place the salt on the cover to prevent sinking and skimming off the scum.

Before using, brined vegetables should be placed in a suitable vessel, covered with fresh water and slowly heated to lukewarm temperature. Hold at that point, stirring frequently. Then pour off the water and repeat the process if necessary until the vegetables have only a slightly salty taste.

United States Gives Sub Chaser To Netherlands

In formal ceremonies at the Washington Navy Yard Thursday, President Roosevelt, under the lend-lease act, presented to the Netherlands the USS-CC submarine chaser, The vessel was christened Queen Wilhelmina.

"It is natural that the United States and the Netherlands should stand together in this fight for freedom and I present this vessel to the Royal Navy of the Netherlands as a symbol of the friendship and admiration of the people of the United States for the Netherlands," said President Roosevelt.

Queen Wilhelmina in a brief talk, gratefully accepted the ship personally. "It is with profound gratitude that I accept this ship for my country," she said simply.

The Navy Band then played the national anthem of both nations.

The CC submarine chaser is one of the newest type and fastest of the United States Navy. It is equipped to attack the enemy on the surface, under the sea and in the air, as described by Navy officers. Further details about the boat were regarded as a military secret.

American Navy planes flew over the Navy Yard while the ceremonies were in progress and saluted Her Majesty, the Queen of the Netherlands, and her gallant Royal Navy. The ship was immediately manned by members of the Dutch Royal Navy, and is now flying the flag of the Netherlands.

Fire Destroys Home In Cottage Hill Community

The farm home of Mrs. Grant Christian in the Cottage Hill community was burned to the ground Friday, destroying all household effects except five quilts, two rocking chairs, two mattresses and a few articles of wearing apparel. The loss was partially covered by insurance. The fire is said to have started in the second story of this 6-room house, in which D. L. Tiller, son of Mrs. Christian, was sleeping.

Mrs. Christian was sleeping in the second story of the house, which was burned to some extent. Mrs. Tiller, son of Mrs. Christian, was in the home at the time. All of whom, it seems, escaped death by a very narrow margin.

In escaping from the burning building, Mrs. Christian sustained a broken arm and the other arm was burned to some extent. Mrs. Tiller had an arm and shoulder burned painfully, and D. L. Tiller broke a rib in jumping from the second story.

The loss included two sets of silverware, one belonging to Mrs. Christian and the other to her daughter, Mrs. Willett Parker of Conroe, six or seven hundred cans of food, 75 bed quilts and more than $50 carried in her purse by Mrs. Solon Christian, and her wearing apparel.

The origin of the fire is unknown.—Celina Record.

Saving Vegetable Seed For Planting Is Satisfactory

Seed of many vegetables produced under farm conditions generally prove satisfactory for planting, says J. F. Rosborough, horticulturist of the Texas A. and M. College Extension Service. He said that plants grown in soil of low fertility, or where disease lowers the vitality, cannot be depended upon as a reliable source of seed.

Continuing he said, Seed of beals of all kinds, including bush and pole varieties, should mature thoroughly on the plant, then harvested and spread out to dry. Most varieties of butterbeans, pole and bush, must be harvested as the seed pod is beginning to turn brown to prevent splitting. Spread out to dry further before storing.

English peas: Pick when the pods turn brown and spread out to dry.

Cucumbers: Select straight-sided dark green specimens and leave on vine until a rich golden color. Remove seed, and spread out to dry.

Tomato: Remove seed from vine-ripened tomato into small wire strainer and wash out material holding seed. Seed also may be scraped on a newspaper and placed in the sun to dry.

Pepper: Cut off lower half of mature red pepper and scrape seed from cavity in the upper half.

Okra: Seed may be left in the brown pod until ready for planting.

Eggplant: Seed form mature fruit should be washed thoroughly and spread in the sun to dry quickly. Otherwise seed will germinate if left overnight in damp pulp.

Cantaloupe and Watermelon: Wash seed thoroughly and spread out to dry.

If thoroughly dry, vegetable seed can be stored in various paper containers and should be kept in a cool, dry place. Beans and peas should be treated with a teaspoonful of carbon disulphide to a quart of seed to prevent weevil damage.

Frisco Is Proud Of Boys In The Country's Forces

Frisco citizens are pointing with pride to the long list of boys from that community who are in the service of Uncle Sam, especially so since many of these boys are climbing steadily in the various branches of the armed forces.

A few months ago Joe Robertson with his 17-year-old son, Billy Joe, joined the group in the U. S. Navy who were sent out to the USS Houston. Monday another 17-year-old Frisco boy entered the ranks of the Navy. He was Kenneth George Haynes, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Parker. He left Dallas Monday night for San Diego, California. Because of certificates in Red Cross First Aid, he was given the rank of First Class Seaman. Kenneth was a life member of the Boy Scouts of America and lacked only a few points of being an Eagle Scout. A few months ago he received a $5.00 award for an essay in a contest conducted by the American Magazine on the subject "What Americanism Means to Me." He wrote from the standpoint of a boy Scout.

The demonstration lasted for several hours and great interest was shown by those who attended.

State's Tax Rate Is Set At 75 Cents, Says Governor

No new tax levies will be necessary when the Legislature meets in January, Gov. Coke E. Stevenson predicted after the state Tax board fixed an advance rate of 75 cents per $100 valuation for 1942-43.

Voting unanimously, the board, composed of the governor, State Treasurer Jesse James and State Comptroller George H. Sheppard, Tuesday increased the rate 17 cents over the current year to meet requirements of the public school system.

The board boosted the rate for the available school fund from the present 16 cents to 33 cents and reset this year's rate of 35 cents for the general revenue fund.

The constitution sets the Comptroller's pension rate at seven per cent and prescribes a maximum advancement rate of 77 cents.

Increase In Sugar For Industrial And Institutional Users

Increases in the sugar allotments of industrial and institutional users of sugar for the months of July and August, which were announced previously, will be extended to cover the allotment period of September and October, Elton Riggs, Chairman of the Collin County War Price and Rationing Board, has announced.

Authorization for the increases in both allotment period is contained in a new amendment to the sugar rationing regulations, Mr. Riggs explained, which was made effective August 7.

Industrial users will be given a 10 per cent increase, thus raising their allotment to 80 per cent of their sugar "base" for these four months, while institutional users will be granted a 25 per cent increase, boosting their allotment to 75 per cent of their base.

Sugar purchase certificates for these additional allotments will be granted the institutional and industrial users when they apply for their regular allotments for the September-October period.

The board has been authorized to accept applications for this period any time after August 7, and no special application is required to obtain this increase.

Navy Booklet Is For Men Between 17 And 50 Years

The answer to many questions of men considering entering military service is an illustrated four colored booklet entitled "Men Make the Navy—The Navy Makes Men." It is six by nine inches in size and 50 pages in length. Men between the ages of 17 and 50 years may obtain a free copy by writing to the U. S. Navy Recruiting Station, Dallas, Texas.

Included in the new booklet are action pictures illustrating the type of ships a man may be assigned to serve on; the general characteristics of the training he will undergo; medical and dental care he can expect to receive; sports activities; food, how it is prepared and served; quarters aboard ship; entertainment, afloat and ashore; trade training; ratings, how to distinguish them; men whose Navy training paved the way for successful civilian careers; and many other features.

This book answers the majority of questions that arise in the minds of applicants whether in regard to pay in the Navy, years of service expected under different types of enlistment, type of training to be expected, the various classes open to applicants, or other most frequently asked questions.

E. W. Britton and his brother, G. S. Britton who have the contract to build the new house for Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Gant, Jr., of the Bishop community, tells us they have had much trouble securing material. So they built the roof on first. Sounds funny doesn't it? They erected a skeleton frame, then put on the roof. Then they began putting on what siding they had. Later they will lay the floor. So you see there are various ways to build a house. Down in Dallas the Bonehead Club has been busy for years building a 20-story club house. They started it at the 20th story and are coming on down.

Fact: That's what Editor Joe Taylor of the Dallas News says. He's a member of the Bonehead Club and ought to know.

Victory clothes, designed to conserve war-essential leather, are now being produced by the International Shoe Co., St. Louis. Hard maple and sugar pine are the woods used.

Victory clothes, actually labeled wartime substitutes, will soon make their appearance. There will be socks and shirts made of skimmed milk, hats made of California redwood bark, other innovations. Some are expected to win wide consumer acceptance; others might not turn out so well.

Surry And Horses Replace Autos On Used Car Lot Here

Maybe you thought it couldn't happen here. But it did. When you see a couple of horses these days hitched to a surry, that's news. But, when the surry and horses are hitched on a used car lot, that once was the scene of a flourishing business, that's really news and typical of the changes brought about by the war.

The surry and horses were the property of Fred Bush, well-known and successful Collin County farmer and livestockman, living Southwest of McKinney, who is returning to the method of locomotion common several decades ago.

Mr. Bush secured the surry and harness from Will Foreman of Plano, who had them stored for the past forty years. C. A. Turentine has been working over the surry and getting it in condition. Strangely enough, the double set of harness proved to be in good condition, according to Mr. Bush and daughter, Miss Sarah Bush.

The horses pranced as they were being hitched to the surry, and if horses can reason, doubt they cast a reproachful look at the cars standing nearby as much as to say, "We told you so; we knew we'd come into our own some day."

With green top, red body and with the usual buggy whip in the dashboard, the surry Mr. Bush and daughter proudly drove down the street.

If this war continues for long, with more and more automobiles going in the garages, there may be more of these scenes enacted in this country, that is, if the supply of horses and discarded surries and buggies can be found.

Accompanied by his daughter, Miss Sarah, and Misses Dianne and Miriana Marley, children of Mr. and Mrs. James B. Marley of San Antonio, the foursome took a ride about the city Thursday, creating much attention from their friends before driving out to Mr. and Mrs. Bush's farm, Southwest of McKinney.

The Marley children are here on their vacation and have been watching with interest the repairs made on the surry, eagerly anticipating a ride in the form of transportation that is new to them. Their father is Regional Director of the Social Security Board, in charge of Texas, Louisiana and New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. Bush, proud owners of the surry and fine animals are among Collin County's best-known citizens. They have a son in the nation's armed forces, Ensign Sterling P. Bush of the United States Naval Reserve at Boston, Massachusetts.

First Reunion Held in 1918.

T. L. Bailey explained that the first reunion of the Stroup-Bailey-Littlejohn-Grisham families was held in 1918 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Littlejohn, Northeast of McKinney, when some members of the family were visiting in this city and county.

They decided to make the reunion an annual affair, and since that time the reunions have been held at Finch Park in this city.

As previously mentioned, three States were represented at the reunion this year although perhaps the ones coming the greatest distance were Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stroup and grandson, Jimmy Stroup, and Miss Mary Sanchez of El Paso.

This honored family has an early and important history, dating back to the early days of Collin County, when Levi Stroup and wife emigrated to this State and Collin County from South Carolina, in 1839. They were preceded here by Mr. and Mrs. Tom L. Bailey, grandparents of Tom L. Bailey, grandsons of Tom L. Bailey.

Here Is Where Nazi Saboteurs Awaited Verdict Of Death Penalty

The pictures are of the District of Columbia jail where the eight German saboteurs awaited their fate after having been tried by a military commission. One is an exterior view, showing a soldier on guard outside the jail's barred windows. The other is "death chamber" in the jail. Sentences of the eight enemy agents were handed down by President Roosevelt. Six of the saboteurs were executed Saturday.

SIX NAZI SABOTEURS PAY PENALTY FOR EFFORTS TO CRIPPLE AMERICAN INDUSTRY

Secrecy, which surrounded trial of the eight Nazi saboteurs, continues regarding the disposal of their bodies, when the Office of War Information said details of the disposition of their bodies must come from the White House in Washington.

Death by electrocution Saturday snapped short the careers of six Nazi saboteurs, men who sneaked ashore from enemy submarines bent on crippling the American war effort by fire, explosion and terrorism.

Two others, adjudged equally guilty by a military commission of seven Generals, escaped the death penalty fixed by the law of war for their intended crimes by tattling on the rest. Because they helped the government prepare its case, they were given prison sentences, one for life, the other for thirty years, both at hard labor.

At noon the first of the agents of destruction to pay with his life was led from a cell at the District of Columbia jail to its execution chamber. In grim succession the five others followed. The six were:

Heinrich Harm Heineck, Richard Quirin, Edward John Kerling, Herbert Hans Haupt, Werner Thiel and Hermann Otto Neubauer. Ernest P. Burger was sentenced to prison for life and George John Dasch was given thirty years.

Just before 1:30, the White House, several miles away, announced that President Roosevelt had approved the findings and recommendations of the military commission and that the six had been executed. The record of the

Poultry's Part In War Victory Program Outlined

The International Baby Chick Association, the largest and best functioning agency of its kind for the poultry industry, held its Victory Rally this year at Grand Rapids, Michigan, for four days starting July 22.

Speakers of nationally known repute included: General Lewis B. Hershey, Draft Administrator; Jno. A. Hannah, President, Michigan State College; Jos. Kinghorn, Poultry Section Agricultural Marketing Administration; Roy F. Hendrickson, Administrator, Agriculture Marketing Association; Leo V. Card, Michigan Commissioner of Agriculture; Dr. J. Holmes Martin, Chief, Poultry Department, Purdue University; Berley Winston, Director, Federal Poultry Regional Research Laboratory, East Lansing, Michigan; and R. W. Blackburn, Executive Secretary of American Farm Bureau Federation.

Excerpts of speeches made are as follows:

General Hershey: "Older workers must replace young. No employer can have all of the men of the type he desires. Millions of men are needed to fight on land, in the air and on the sea and that means that in industry, on the farm and in government we are all going to work more and have less and stop doing the things that can wait. The farms will have a difficult time. Many young farm workers have already volunteered and many more will have to go."

"Don't ask me to appreciate your annual production of several billion eggs a year," Gen. Hershey told the hatcherymen. "I'm only an ex-farm boy who used to think it was wonderful if I could find a dozen or so eggs around the barnyard. In those days we didn't deprive the hen of the pleasure of setting by bringing in a lot of incubators as competition."

Roy F. Hendrickson, Administrator, Agricultural Marketing, U. S. D. A. Washington, D. C.:

"The hens are shelling them out fast. Production of eggs is up 16 per cent over 1941, exceeding by 3 per cent the goal set by the Department of Agriculture. No other branch of agriculture has done more than the poultry industry in producing food-for-freedom. Since this program went into effect, production has added up to the amazing total of 29,100,000,000 eggs—an all-time record for the period from January to June. I'll admit that figure staggers every one who is as used to Washington figures as I am."

Mr. Hendrickson promised that the Agricultural Marketing Administration will continue to do all it can to maintain egg prices at levels that will average 85 per cent of parity or above, and predicted that egg production goals for 1943 will be above those for this year. "The hatcheryman who keeps up and even increases his production with existing equipment is contributing directly to the defeat of the Axis," he said. "So is the poultry farmer who builds up his laying flocks and increases egg output. So is the egg-drying plant that works out more effective technique for processing egg powder. It is a co-operative job from start to finish."

"The value of scientific research is making the turkey a year-round bird rather than the once-a-year feast it used to be. Remember that our job in the war effort is the efficient production of food."

The poultry industry will try to become independent of the use of Japs as chick sexers.

Supplies of critical materials for farm equipment should be expected to be reduced in 1943 to 25 per cent of the 1940-41 consumption. The 1942 quota was 50 to 80 per cent of the 1940-41 consumption.

Poultrymen are urged to save feathers. The nation is short several million pounds of feathers for pillows, millinery, and military purposes as a result of the war.

Statewide Fire Reduction Will Save $3,200,000
A statewide reduction in fire insurance rates which Commissioner Marvin Hall estimated would save policy holders $3,200,000 in the next twelve months became effective Aug. 1.

Affecting many classes of property, the reductions cut the rates on dwellings as much as 25 per cent. Some classes were increased due to unusually heavy losses in recent years, Hall said.

Hall estimated that of the total cut, $2,625,000 would be on dwellings. As an instance, the annual cost of a $5,000 policy on a one-story frame dwelling with a single roof and tenant occupancy before June 15, 1936, was $37.50; today, with the new cut and other reductions made since that time, the cost would be $13.88, varying slightly from town to town in ratio to fire record credits.

Reductions were attributed to cooperation of the people, through fire prevention measures, in cutting down losses in Texas. With reduced losses it has been possible for insurance costs to be lowered, Hall said. Loss records are established over a five year period, and adjustments made annually.

Hall added that the insurance Commission is also considering broadening the coverage of insurance policies.

Hon. Jas. V. Allred Brings Campaign To Collin County

Hon. James V. Allred, former Attorney General and former Governor of Texas, brought his campaign for United States Senator to Collin County Monday night, when he addressed a large number of McKinney and Collin County voters. It was the second time this year that Mr. Allred, who resigned a Federal judgeship in Houston to make this race, addressed the voters in this city and county. His address was attentively listened to by the large crowd of voters.

Mr. Allred was introduced by Hon. Roland W. Boyd, Criminal District Attorney of Collin County, who paid a fine compliment to the speaker who is waging a vigorous campaign for United States Senator in the runoff campaign.

Spends Busy Day of Campaigning
The audience in McKinney was responsive as were other audiences that heard him during the day at Bowie, where he was born and reared, Sherman and Bonham.

Mother Shares Platform.
His Mother, Mrs. Renne Allred Sr., sat on the platform at Bowie, where she resides, and where Mr. Allred was born and spent his boyhood days. His home town audience was keenly responsive, frequently breaking in with cheers.

To his audiences in the rich cotton growing counties of Grayson, Fannin and Collin, Mr. Allred outlined his farm program, calling for 25 cents a pound cotton, and promised not only to introduce as his first bill in the Senate a measure providing a minimum price of 25¢ but to see the President as soon as nominated Aug. 22 on the cotton price matter.

"I think I can talk to him," said Mr. Allred. I will say that the farmers are entitled to 25 cent cotton this fall, and to a fair price on other products of the farm and ranch, I have found as serious injustice on the farmers and I believe Texas cotton farmers are entitled to enough income to pay their taxes, raise a family and to buy their share of war bonds."

Reiterates Labor Stand.
In his Monday speeches, Mr. Allred repeated his views on labor—that no American should have to join a union to work on a defense job or in war industry, that union dues for defense workers shall be limited to $1 a month and an initiation fee of $1; that he will support legislation to prohibit strikes, slow downs or racketeering of any kind in war production, and to prohibit violence or sit down strikes anywhere, anytime.

"I'm going to carry the message from Texas to Washington that our people want no interference with the war effort by labor, capital or any other interest."

Discussing old-age pensions, Mr. Allred said he didn't want to claim credit for what anyone else has done, nor did he want others claiming credit for what he has done.

"Jimmie Allred was the first to publicly advocate relief from want in old age. The revenue raised for five years up to July of last year, was raised by James V. Allred and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Introduced by Judge, Mr. Allred was introduced in Sherman by District Judge Tom Seng, whom he appointed to the bench while Governor. Mr. Allred stood on a small table in addressing his Sherman audience on the Grayson County courthouse lawn. He recalled that his father and mother were born and reared in Grayson County and that his grandfather moved in 1837 to the Cherry Mound community, near Belts.

Mr. Allred stopped at Gainesville for a radio talk early in the afternoon. He spoke late in the afternoon at Bonham, where he was introduced by H. A. Cunningham.

Discussing the war situation, he said: "How can we permit ourselves to be lulled to sleep when the Japs are in the Aleutians, the Russians are being pushed back to the British have been thrown out of Libya, when submarines are preying on shipping off our own coasts? We are going to win the war, but we can lose it unless we go all out for the victory. Unless we all unite."

Women's Reserve, U. S. Navy, Has Many Openings

Despite the fact that there have been numerous applications filed for service in the Women's Reserve, United States Navy, Lieut. Katherine Luna, head of the "WAVEs" for the eighth Naval District, announced the quota for the district is not yet filled and many openings exist for women who desire to serve their country. There are in particular many opportunities for technically trained women.

All inquiries concerning the Women's Reserve should be made in writing to the Office of Naval Officers Procurement, 217 Camp Street, New Orleans, La., stating applicant's age, marital status, education and business experience.

After this information is reviewed at the "WAVEs" headquarters the applicant will be sent the necessary application forms and the required report of a physical examination to be made by the applicant's personal physician.

It is pointed out that by enlisting in the "WAVEs" women can serve their country as well as can any man on the firing line. They will provide qualified personnel to release officers and enlisted men of the Naval Service for duty afloat.

Qualifications for nomination to appoint as officers require that the applicant be a citizen of the U. S. not less than 21 and under 50 years of age, have no children under 18 years of age, be of good standing in the community, meet physical requirements, possess the required education.

SCORES OF GERMAN FACTORIES RAZED BY PLANES OF BRITISH

Hundreds of German factories are razed and thousands of hours are lost to production as a result of tremendous bombing of reich cities by United Nations planes based in Great Britain. Take this typical communique: "Though the weather was unfavorable, for the second time in five nights more than 50,000-pound bombs were dropped on Duisberg, besides many other high explosives and thousands of incendiaries. The attacking force included all three four-engined types—Lancasters, Halifaxes and Stirlings."

More than 100 tons of bombs

New Instructions Given In Fighting Of Fire Bombs

New instructions in fighting fire bombs have been announced as a result of extensive research by technicians in the United States and England. It is reported by Marvin Hall, State Fire Defense Co-ordinator.

In a communication to Fire Chief M. Eversole of Honey Grove Fire Department, Mr. Hall said: "All civilians should become familiar with the new and safer method of fighting incendiary bombs, described in the latest instructions released by OGD. These are the result of extensive experiments by OGD technicians and the Chemical Warfare Service of the U. S. Army. The new method has already been adopted in England and New Zealand."

Chief Eversole said that the most important change in technique is that which calls for the use of a jet of water instead of a spray. A speedy attack on the bomb with a jet of water will knock the bomb out in less than one minute, thus saving valuable time which can be used in attacking other bombs nearby before they can start serious fires. Sand is not to be used except where water is not available or where the glare of the bomb can be seen by enemy flyers, he said.

Briefly, the latest instructions are:

1. Bring your fire fighting equipment to the scene at once.
2. Shoot a jet of water directly at the bomb without delay, to put it out of action quickly.
3. Then use the jet, quickly, to quench the fragments and the remains of the bombs and any fires that might have been started.
4. Be absolutely sure all the fire is out before you leave the scene.
5. Use a coarse spray only where scattering of metal must be avoided.
6. Use sand only if a bomb falls where it is not likely to start a fire, or if water is not available.

Chief Eversole pointed out that the desirable jet of water can be obtained from a garden hose, any type of water fire extinguisher, a pump-tank extinguisher, or a stirrup pump.

Jim Heifner was here from Lucas on business Thursday.

Tom Airhart of Valdosta heard Judge Allred speak here Monday night.

Mrs. Hardie S. Pope of Hot Springs, Arkansas, has returned to her home after visiting in the home of Mrs. H. C. Pope. She also visited relatives in Sherman, and Dallas.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Reddell, Ted Reddell, of this city and Mrs. James Padgett of Dallas spent the week-end with their son and brother, Frank Reddell, Jr., at Camp Wallace. They also visited in Houston and Galveston, having a delightful week-end.

Mrs. G. L. McGraw of Rout 5, McKinney, has our thanks for subscription to the Weekly Democrat-Gazette which she ordered sent to her son, Sgt. W. M. McGraw whose address is Unit No. 300 U. S. M. C. San Francisco, California.

in 50 packages shattered Duisberg—largest inland port in Europe—and it was seen burning for many hours. And that is but one of many objectives. Not all raids over Germany are at night, although darkness provides cover for the concentration sought in the biggest raids. One thousand bombers over the target in 75 minutes has been the best yet, swamping the defenses and pulverizing the objective.

The new heavy bombers also enable shrewd day-time blows when clouds provide cover up to the target. Then the approach can be made safe from interception. Carrying 4,000-pounds, even a single airplane scoring direct hits can do enormous damage.

The two-ton bombs are a tremendous success because a near-miss is little less effective than a bomb planted on the spot—an area of about 100 yards is devastated and lighter damage done within a quarter of a mile if the bomb strikes hard ground. Besides destroying, these bombs exerted a great moral effect. They have become a terror by night in Western Germany's industrial cities.

Men With Police Experience Sought At Grayson Field

Can you wield a billy? Can you let your shoes squeak and not pay at bit of attention to it? Can you, without pangs of remorse, pick up an apple from a fruit store rack, and walk into a theater and ignore the ticket office?

Then you must either be a "cop," or have had experience along that line. And if you have, Perrin Field can use you.

A special plan to enlist men with police experience to serve as members of the military police detachment has been set up at Perrin Field, and Colonel D. G. Stitt, commanding officer, has given the "go signal" to the recruiting office.

Because some of those men who now are serving as MPs are needed elsewhere in the Air Force, it has been decided to arrange for a special detachment with guard duty as its only assignment, thus relieving trained men now on guard to return to their regular jobs.

Absolutely no kitchen police duty is assured. Besides, those accepted will be called on to work six hours of each thirty. Another six hours out of each thirty will be spent "on the alert," or, ready for duty if needed. The rest of the time you'll be as free as the breeze, provided you don't run afoul of your brother MP's on duty.

So, if you're between 18 and 45 years of age, and can boast of police experience—anything from being a night watchman to district attorney—see the Recruiting officer at Perrin Field.

Oh, yes "G-I" shoes will squeak just like your old oxtops, too.

"We Are Holding Our Own" Word From Solomon Is.

BULLETINS

Five words tell the story of the battle of the Solomon Islands Tuesday, in its fifth day. They are "We are holding our own." This was the word of Prime Minister Curtin of Australia, who also said that Allied gains greatly outweighed their losses. Meanwhile, German claims surpassed those of Japan in alleged big Japanese gains. Allied reports indicated many Japanese ships had been put out of commission and a large number of Japanese planes downed. It is said Australian land forces are not taking part in the new offensive but that their air and navy forces are helping. Indications are that the battle of the Solomon Islands is only the beginning of a great offensive and the down payment for Japan's treacherous attack on American possessions in the Pacific. Many military leaders believe it remarkable that the United States, caught off-guard in the December attack, has reached such a war tempo enabling it to attack the enemy in force in eight months. Americans, it is pointed out, realize that their offensive and victory must be paid for at a great price.

Meanwhile, Allied planes bombarded Rabaul with from thirteen to nineteen Japanese planes destroyed. Ground fighting is reported in New Guinea, while in China, American flyers, known as Sky Dragons, bombed Japanese-held cities.

Landing of American Marines, described as the spearhead of America's first offensive in the Pacific, on the Solomon Islands, near Australia, has been made known by American officials in Washington. Aided by American planes and ships, the landing was made at considerable cost to the United States, officials reporting that one United States cruiser had been sunk and two damaged, while two destroyers and one transport had been damaged.

The Japanese launched vigorous counter attacks, and likewise suffered heavy losses in ships and planes.

Admiral Ernest J. King, Commander in Chief of American

Naval forces, said the landing is his first assumption of the initiative of the offensive in this war and said the purpose is to drive the Japanese out of the Southeastern Solomon Islands. In Bombay, India, fierce rioting continues as Mohandas Gandhi's followers defied police in a mass civil disobedience. Police have fired on crowds ten times in Bombay, with numerous casualties. The situation is growing worse, news sources said, in the Northern sections of the city. British troops are patrolling the city.

American Soldiers Dot Entire World

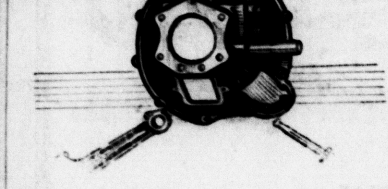

So far as American armed forces are concerned, talk of a "second front" would be more accurate if it were described as a "thirty-second front." United States troops are scattered over 31 different areas, perhaps more. If the navy is added, the list is even more impressive. Largest forces are in Ireland and Australia, the size of the armies there a military secret. New Guinea and New Caledonia supplement the Australian front in the Far Pacific. American soldiers are established at nine British bases in the Western Hemisphere: Britain, Guiana, Trinidad, Jamaica, Santa Lucia, the Bahamas, Antigua, Bermuda, Labrador, and Newfoundland. Military outposts of the United States are also established in Guatemala, Nicaragua

BOMBAY, INDIA.
WE READ MUCH IN THE news about the strikes going forward in India, as Indians wage their campaign for freedom with the city of Bombay holding the spotlight in the news. Concerning this city, the Dallas News has this to say:

The City of Bombay is the second largest city in India with a total population of 1,161,383. The seaport at Bombay is one of the largest and finest in the world. Bombay is a great industrial center.

The province of Bombay, which is known as the Bombay Presidency, has a total area of 151,673 square miles and a total population of 26,368,997. Like many other provinces in India, Bombay has its own government with powers something like the powers of one of our states. The ruler is a Governor appointed by the Congress of India.

According to the World Almanac, there are in India the following major religions and worshippers: 229,100,140 Hindus; 77,097,545 Mohammedans or Muslims; 12,786,806 Buddhists; 8,286,847 members of Tribal religions; 4,296,763 Christians; 4,355,711.

Sikhs, 1,252,105 Jains, 109,782 Zoroastrians and 24,141 Jews. Many of the above religions are broken up into minor religions or sects. One sect called the Nikkel Sen worships the spirit of the British General Nicholson, whose bravery and warlike skill caused him to be considered by many as a god.

CLIP AND SAVE.
AND URGING THEIR READERS to "clip and save," the News also refers to a column in Sunday's Dallas News from Lynn Landrum, in which they offer the following quotations from the writer's column:

Necessity is about to pick us up by the nape of the neck and shake some of the nonessentials out of us. Money is a trunk check for baggage in the storehouse. But if the baggage room is robbed or torn down, the baggage check is only a souvenir.

You can't watch a pan of parched corn and do a good job at a mathematical problem. The kingdom of heaven is within you. But there, too, is the kingdom of manhood.
